Exceptionally lightweight racing pack

The main fabric is extremely lightweight, thin (nearly see-through!) and water resistant, yet seems to be pretty tough. One large main compartment is accessed by a vertical zip that is holding well despite deliberate overfilling. External mesh pockets and thin bungee cords provide compression and additional storage including helmet carry. Hip pockets are easy to use and bottle pockets are attached to the hip belt for ease of access. The harness is well fitting, stable and although back padding is just some well placed mesh, it is comfortable. At half the weight of some other packs on test, it's really at the cutting edge of racing equipment design.
