Description

The Foehn 2 tent is a simple, easy to use dome type design that sleeps 2 people. It's free standing, pitches inner first and is ideal for continental camping trips. This lightweight tent has been designed for outdoor enthusiasts expecting to use their tent in warmer climates or areas where more ventilation may be required. The inner tent has a high proportion of mesh allowing plenty of airflow even when the flysheet is used.

The Foehn 2 is a great tent for backpacking trips whether staying on a campsite or wild camping. It's been designed for 3 season use and designed for short and longer duration trips.

The tent is simple to pitch and its free-standing design means it can be easily pitched on stony or loose ground. The dome style provides plenty of headroom and living space providing comfortable accommodation even on longer trips.

The Foehn 2 tent is made with ripstop polyester 70d fabric which has a high strength to weight ratio and great weather resistance. All the seams on the groundsheet and flysheet are fully taped for maximum waterproofing. The tent pitches with Superflex alloy poles, which give both high strength and low weight and the tent comes with strong v angle alloy pegs for a secure anchor.

Mesh around 360 degrees of the inner along with flysheet vents front and back provide great ventilation. The tent has two doors and porches for easy access and plenty of storage. Both doors have multiple tie-back options to enable several ways of ventilating the tent.

The low weight, spacious and highly specified Foehn 2 is a great tent for camping in warmer climates.
